

little magazine

E S S A Y S

7 The country of first boys

Policy that lavishes attention on fortunate students while neglecting general education is creating an iniquitous culture, says Amartya Sen, and endangering India's chances in the global marketplace

18 Freedom from dead habit

Teaching by rote is creating generations of people specifically trained not to ask, doubt, imagine or perform any of the more useful acts of a citizen of a multicultural democracy, writes Martha Nussbaum

38 Give peace a chance

Education which is viewed as merely a tool for building identity and economic capacity cannot but promote intolerance, writes Krishna Kumar

48 Who's afraid of literacy?

Is education meant to tame or to empower? That's the central question policymakers have to address, says Sudeep Banerjee

52 Is literacy necessary?

G.N. Devy objects to the idea that literacy and numeracy are prerequisites for education. In fact, they may distance the student from his or her own culture and identity

64 Text, context, subtext

What the National Curriculum Framework 2005 portends for Indian school education. Irfan Habib brings us the bad news

68 Dealing with the past

While cleaning up after the saffronisation of history, we must sweep away the many other forms of jingoism which are taught to our students as well, feels Narayani Gupta

74 System malfunction

The current Indian education system needs to be replaced by a decentralised, accountable, community-based and more inclusive learning process, writes Anil Bordia

79 Parental guidance

Contrary to the stereotype, poor families make enormous sacrifices to educate their children, says Shantha Sinha

87 Food for thought

The midday meal programme is working like magic to retain poor children in school, reports Kumar Rana

92 Forget the student

Education in India remains trapped in a maze of illogical rules, red tape, corruption, power games and plain apathy, says Perumal Koshy

94 The joy of flying

As the State falters, a few extraordinary educators take on the task of delivering primary education in their villages, reports Subhrangsu Santra

96 Hidden in the shell

Health education in India means indiscriminate dissemination of information, with no thought for the appropriateness of the tools or settings used, writes Madhumita Dobe

P O E T R Y

4 Narayan Surve: My university

34 A blessed life: Kamala Das

58 Gulzar: Says Faraaz, age nine

60 Before the word: Keki N. Daruwalla

72 K. Satchidanandan: Puberty

84 Becoming a Brahmin: Meena Kandaswami

86 Arun Kale: A distinguished dish

- 104 The lesson: Joy Goswami
 105 B. Chinnaswamy: The educated boys of the south side
 134 I make the next moment: A.J. Thomas
 161 Ismail Bala Garba: Wonder Woman
 181 Family portrait: Durga Prasad Panda
 182 Sampurna Chattarji: Brahma's eyes
 183 Just a turn in the road: Revathy Gopal
 190 Rumki Basu: Two wings and a third eye
 191 The Word: Aditya Shankar
 195 C.V.S. Sarma: A city watches
 198 Images: Rachna Joshi

F I C T I O N

- 106 Big Brother by Munshi Premchand
 112 The headmaster by Narendranath Mitra
 123 The vice-chancellor by T.V. Varkey
 130 Bablu's choice by Ela Arab Mehta

N E W F I C T I O N

- 176 The dyslexic by Swara Bhaskar
 184 Death in flashback by Pawan Singh
 192 Jasmine and sugarcane
 by Sheila Arnopoulos
 196 It's like this... by Poonam Dutta

P L A Y S C R I P T

- 136 Crossings at Benares Junction
 Economist Kaushik Basu turns playwright with this story about the bright young professor who finally meets his match. A sparkling comment on academics, life and Indian society

O P E N S P A C E

- 103 Liberate education
 Ashok Agarwal speaks up for fundamental rights

R E V I E W S

- 162 Breaking the silence
 Pamela Philipose reads two books on women's narratives and marvels at the multiple identities and resilience of the second sex
- 164 An elusive modernity
 Ananya Jahanara Kabir reads Malavika Karlekar's Revisioning the Past and wonders how complete our photographic memories are
- 166 Culture, topdown
 Debi Prasanna Pattanayak demands respect for the people and cultural traditions of Orissa
- 168 The demon child
 Kishwar Ahluwalia finds Lionel Shriver's We Need to Talk about Kevin disconcerting but truthful
- 169 Buddha revisited
 Dhiraj Singh feels that we must return to the legends to discover what the Buddha and his avatars stood for
- 170 The culture of food
 Utpala Mukherjee recommends the fare served up by Nilanjana S. Roy in A Matter of Taste — in this case, a taste for the unusual

Plus short reviews of works by Maria Aurora Cuoto, A.L. Basham, Vasudha Dalmia, Parsa Venkateshwar Rao Jr, Sachidananda Mohanty, Vinita Bhargava, Rinki Bhattacharya and others

COVER PHOTO:
DILIP BANERJEE

Education and catastrophe